

Hublot Introduces New “Big Bang Ferrari Russia” Watch

Luxury watch brand Hublot recently unveiled a special edition watch titled – Big Bang Ferrari Russia.

Swiss watch manufacturer is celebrating a successful 10 year period of selling its line of luxury watches into Russia.

According to Hublot, the new Big Bang Ferrari Russia watch features a stunning black ceramic case that measures 1.79 inches or 45.5 mm in diameter. It includes a cylindrical carbon fibre bezel. The striking red moulding highlights the watch’s flyback chronograph movement by making it visible via the sapphire dial.

The unveiling of the new luxury watch from Hublot was held at the company’s 10th year anniversary party in Barvikha Luxury Village in Moscow, Russia.

There will be only 25 Big Bang Ferrari Russia timepieces manufactured. Each one is made with two straps that are interchangeable. The luxury watch has a water-resistant rating down to 100 meters, in addition to offering the owner a 72-hour power reserve.

The iconic Ferrari horse logo is featured at the 9 o’clock position of the watch dial and is gold in color. The watch dial also features a column wheel plus dual horizontal coupling. The Hublot watch has a frequency of 28,000 vibrations per hour.

The big Hublot event in Moscow was a major success. The guest of honor was none other than Gianmaria Bruni, who is the the World Endurance Champion. In addition to giving racing fans a thrill, Bruni also offered racing tips to some customers who tried out the professional F1 simulator.

In the market for a luxury watch like Hublot but unsure where to buy? Contact The Life of Luxury and we can assist you during the watch buying process. To enjoy more luxury watch stories like this, follow our luxury blog.