

Ode to Valmont Luxe Swiss Skin Care: A Hypocrite's Confession

Valmont Hong Kong Spa

Growing up in an Asian family, you learn to accept unsolicited advice on everything you can see, hear, touch, feel, and smell in life. “You have stress-prone skin. Must moisturize, or you age faster. Look like 40 when you only 25,” criticized my great Aunt Pei-Pei as she shook her newly dyed curly hair.

My response to criticisms to appearance has always been, “meh, physical beauty is only skin deep. I strive for inner beauty.” I lied. I have been lying for the past 15 years. The truth is, I’m always on the prowl for good skin products, which is how I stumbled upon Valmont.

Valmont is a Switzerland-based luxury boutique that artistically marries skin care with beauty. They specialize in anti-aging products designed to help you correct and minimize the signs of aging.

Their elite, made-to-order the Valmont L'Elixir des Glaciers line is derived from highest quality DNA, RNA, and essential plant extracts; while their Nature line is created to infuse skin's natural, youthful glow.

Raved by Vanity Fair magazine, Valmont has multiple spa, "Beauty Lounge" location, in Hong Kong, Barcelona, Verbier, and Montreal, designed to pamper and give beauty advice. A lavish new Beauty Lounge recently opened in Taiwan this past November and a second spa location was added in Hong Kong. The sprawling 5,300 square foot, two-story Beauty Lounge features nine cabins, including a wet room, a hair repair room, and a diagnostic room.

If you want a royal treatment, look no further than Valmont. They have treated aristocrats and royalties, as well as iconic figures like Charlie Chaplin, Ingrid Bergmann, and the queen of haute couture: Coco Chanel.
