The pop-up bar on the beach is fun atmosphere where you can order your own unique drink. Don't get stuck ordering off a menu. First select your liquor base, then choose ingredients that suggested on a chalkboard. Mix and match and get creative!

You can choose from market-fresh fruit, delish vegetables, plus various herbs and spices that are available that particular day.

Next, decide on the type of cocktail you enjoy drinking. Maybe refreshing or sweet? How about spicy and tropical? Or what about dry, bitter, smoky, herbal and many more?

Once you have decided, the talented mixologists are ready to create your ideal bespoke drink. How fun is that?

Jasper Soffer is both the founder and co-owner of the original speakeasy, found in New York City's Little Italy. Soffer also created the Mulberry Project. He was quoted, "We don't believe in boredom. We want to surprise you and please you at the same time. We'll give you a cocktail you've probably never had before, something that fits with the magic that is Tulum. In fact, your second cocktail may be something entirely different."

Since you are in Mexico, how about smoky mezcal concoction? Try some local, Mexican ingredients such as mole bitters.

Under the direction of talented Chef Eleazar Bonilla, you can try these delicious cocktails at the La Zebra's restaurant. Enjoy local cuisine and a great selection of drinks.
